

TRAVEL THAT KEEPS LEARNING ON COURSE.

Supporting every academic journey

Travel underpins learning, collaboration and individual development.

From student placements to international conferences, WingsNaledi makes sure every academic traveller reaches their destination with confidence and purpose.

Academic travel is more than moving from A to B – it's an opportunity for growth, discovery and connection. At WingsNaledi, we understand the distinct needs of students, faculty and researchers. Whether it's a term or semester abroad or presenting at an academic forum, we keep the travel process smooth, leaving your people free to focus on their work.

With 24/7 support wherever you are in the world, WingNaledi has an unrivalled reputation for personal service and meticulous traveller care. Whatever your travel needs, talk to us about planning your next academic journey.

Your specialist travel partner

Every traveller is different. We recognise the specific demands of academic mobility.

Students travel for study. Academics travel for research. Institutions travel for collaboration. WingsNaledi brings in-depth sector knowledge to manage these varied requirements with precision and care. Our services are tailored to your objectives, budgets and compliance rules, making sure each trip supports your institution's goals.

Our expertise is based on 25 years of taking care of travel for South Africa's academic and public sector institutions – and informed by our experience of arranging complex travel for the corporate and industrial sectors.

Let's put 25 years of academic and public sector know-how to work on your next trip.

Clarity, control and value for your institution

Gain clear oversight of travel activity while supporting your academic community.

WingsNaledi equips procurement managers and travel coordinators with smart booking and reporting tools. From budget tracking to policy compliance, our platform delivers the insights needed to manage travel strategically. We help prevent unauthorised bookings and ad hoc travel arrangements by streamlining and standardising the process.

We provide powerful, easy to use analytics to help you to identify improvements and cost saving opportunities. Our global buying power means you can take advantage of specially negotiated rates that you won't find anywhere else. Our transparent approach is backed up with regular cost-savings reports and business reviews.

It all adds up to an efficient and fully accountable service to help you control travel costs down to the last cent.

Why the academic world relies on us

WingsNaledi makes academic travel straightforward, safe and effective. We ensure that your travellers never have to worry about travel arrangements. Our experts are always working behind the scenes to minimise the stress of disruption and delays and get your travellers to their destination rested and ready for the work in hand.

"I arrived in Berlin ready to present my research – everything was taken care of."

"WingsNaledi helped make my semester abroad stress-free and unforgettable."

"Two delays en route to my conference, yet WingsNaledi kept me updated, sorted the connections and had me walking into my session on time."

From first-year students to experienced academics, our travellers trust us to deliver. WingsNaledi has helped thousands of academic journeys succeed.

Want to find out more about our services?
Get in touch at sales@wings.travel

